Sexual harassment is unwelcome communication or conduct of a sexual nature. Sexual harassment can include unwelcome sexual advances; requests for sexual favors; lewd, lascivious, or sexually suggestive remarks; sexual misconduct; or other conduct of a sexual nature. Examples of conduct that may constitute sexual harassment include but are not limited to:

- Requests, propositions, or pressure for sexual favors or submission to sexual conduct
- Unwelcome intentional physical conduct that is sexual in nature such as touching, pinching, patting, grabbing, poking, or brushing against another individual's body
- Physical assaults of a sexual nature, such as rape, sexual assault, sexual battery, molestation, or attempts to commit these acts

Sexual assault is a particular type of sexual harassment that includes physical sexual acts perpetrated against a person's will or where a person is incapable of giving consent due to the victim's use of drugs or alcohol. This includes, but is not necessarily limited to, inappropriate touching, sexual intercourse of any kind without consent, rape, and attempted rape.

Consent represents the cornerstone of respectful and healthy intimate relationships. Monmouth College strongly encourages its community members to communicate openly, honestly and clearly about their actions, wishes, and intentions when it comes to sexual behavior, and to do so before engaging in intimate conduct. It is always the requirement of the individual initiating sexual contact (or undertaking a new type of sexual activity) to ensure that consent is present before acting and is present during sexual activity. Under Illinois law, a person must be at least 17 years of age in order to give consent; it is illegal in Illinois for a person 18 or older to commit sexual acts on a person under the age of 18 if they have a position of authority or trust over the victim.

The relevant standard that will be applied to determine whether consent was present is whether a sober, reasonable person in the same position should have known that the other party could not consent to the sexual activity.

For purposes of this policy, consent is present when clearly understandable words or actions manifest a knowing, voluntary and ongoing agreement to engage in specific sexual or intimate conduct.

College Employee Responsibilities

College employees who become aware of these offenses (except those listed within this brochure as confidential) have an obligation to report the incident to the Office of Student Affairs, Office of Academic Affairs, Personnel Office, Campus Security, or the Title IX Coordinator, even if the victim does not file a complaint or request action or support. See back of brochure for specific contact information.

Confidentiality

Not all college employees can maintain confidentiality. This includes staff members, faculty, hall directors, head residents, resident assistants, and house managers. This does not mean employees do not care about you and these issues. It does mean they may have responsibilities to the larger community that would require them to report sexual violence and other forms of misconduct.
